Senior Software Developer – Budapest

Description

We are looking for a bright, enthusiastic and ambitious software developer with excellent spoken and written English to work alongside our established Development team in Hungary. Key attributes will be a creative thinker with ability to document and explain your solution to other team members. Systematic about testing and always aiming to deliver a high-quality result.

Your excellent interpersonal skills will enable you to build relationships with your team members and to communicate with clients.

About Stellarise

At Stellarise, we believe that the best IT solutions don't take energy, they enable it. The right technology delivered with a can-do approach is the real catalyst for growth. That's what drives Stellarise.

We're an IT strategy and support business – and one that believes in the power of the cloud. But we don't want IT to be the big talking point. That's because we believe it doesn't have to be the headache it often is.

Our manifesto is very simple. We believe that the right technology will grow your business, make it stronger and turn your vision into reality.

With offices in London and in Budapest, we are a Microsoft Silver Cloud Productivity Partner and approved Xero Developer partner. Our office in Budapest opened in August 2018 as part of our strategic plans for expansion.

Our customers do many different things – design incredible buildings, create compelling events, find hidden oil reserves, drive website sales and raise capital for global start-ups. We ensure they stay productive and underpin their growth.
